Note:

During the six months ended June 30, 2025, the audio business of the Group has been struggling with the raw material supply issue, a lower than expected production efficiency and swinging trade policies. The general perception of the audio business environment for the short term turned pessimistic. The audio business cash generating unit ("CGU"), which possesses a goodwill of approximately USD20,942,000, failed to achieve its budget that came to the management's attention as an impairment indicator. Accordingly, management performed an updated impairment assessment and reassessed the recoverable amount of the business unit with reference to the valuation performed by an independent professional valuer. Based on the valuation result, the value-in-use calculation is higher than its fair value less costs of disposal. As a result of the impairment review, the recoverable amount of the audio business CGU to which goodwill has been allocated was lower than its carrying amount as at June 30, 2025. Consequently, impairment losses on goodwill and property, plant and equipment of USD20,942,000 and USD5,380,000, respectively, have been charged to the condensed consolidated interim statement of comprehensive income.

7 INCOME TAX EXPENSE

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

BUSINESS OVERVIEW AND OUTLOOK

Business Overview

For the six months ended June 30, 2026, we continued to implement our business strategy to consolidate our position as a global leader in the development and production of interconnect solutions and related products. Through these efforts, our business achieved growth as a result of our successful execution of our product mix improvement strategy. As discussed in more detail below in the section headed "Results of Operations", our revenue amounted to US$2,496 million while net profit amounted to US$38 million for the six months ended June 30, 2026, representing an increase of 8.3% and 26.3%, respectively, as compared to the corresponding period in 2025.

For the smartphones end market, due to the increase in shipment volume of our products driven by the increase in overall sales volume of high-end smartphone models of branded companies, revenue generated from the smartphones end market for the six months ended June 30, 2026 increased by 2.9% as compared to the same period in 2025.

For the cloud end market, we benefited from the increased demand in the server market driven by artificial intelligence (AI) and the rising demand for new platform cabinet connectors and cables. This led to an increase in the shipment volume of copper-based component products in 2026. In addition, the increased shipment volume of new platform cabinet connectors and cables simultaneously boosted the shipment volume of our existing general-purpose server products. As a result, revenue generated from the cloud end market increased by 55.8% for the six months ended June 30, 2026 as compared to the same period in 2025.

For the consumer interconnects end market, affected by the shortage of upstream components such as memory, our shipment volume decreased. As a result, for the six months ended June 30, 2026, the revenue generated from the consumer interconnects end market decreased by 20.6% as compared to the same period in 2025.

For the auto mobility end market, affected by the overall contraction of the vehicle market, our product sales in the auto mobility end market recorded a slight decrease. For the six months ended June 30, 2026, revenue generated from the auto mobility end market decreased by 6.2% as compared to the same period in 2025.

For the system products end market, the increased demand for the brand customers' wired earphones – classic white EarPods – led to an increase in the shipment volume of our acoustic products. For the six months ended June 30, 2026, revenue generated from the system products end market increased by 14.9% as compared to the same period in 2025.

Industry Outlook and Business Prospects

Industry Outlook

The popularization of AI applications has pushed rapid technical development in the global connector industry, which raised requirements for higher product bandwidth, greater power transmission capabilities and enhanced compatibility across platforms, while expanding deployment into a broader range of application scenarios. In the future, we believe connectors and cables that have high compatibilities will be more popular in the market. We have seized market opportunities and built global brand awareness, rapidly expanding our market share.

Smartphones. The high-end smartphone market has demonstrated relatively greater resilience, supported by continued product innovation and replacement demand. Technological upgrades in next-generation models are expected to drive higher performance requirements for related components.

Cloud. 5G technology enhances network speed and capacity, supporting real-time data processing in AI applications and higher data transfer rates, thereby increasing requirements for high-speed and high-bandwidth interconnect solutions in data centers. The growth of IoT devices pushed forth the development in edge computing and consumer interconnects, reflecting the need for reliable and high-performance connectors and cable modules. Global data centers continue to expand and optimize, adopting efficient cooling technologies, to increase storage capacity and performance. The increasing demand for AI hardware facilitates model training and inference, with network security becoming a priority. Hybrid cloud solutions flexibly adjust resources and drive intelligent infrastructure. We focus on three major trends in data centers – higher energy efficiency, power conversion efficiency and open standard platforms – and are developing innovative interconnect solutions to meet evolving industry requirements.

Consumer interconnects. The advancement of AI technologies is accelerating the upgrade cycle of electronic products, supporting steady growth in demand for higher-performance connectors. However, amid ongoing economic uncertainty and inflationary pressure, corporate and consumer spending remains conservative. We expect that the overall market demand will stabilize in 2026.

Auto mobility. In the next ten years, traditional fuel vehicles, hybrid vehicles and electric vehicles will continue to require high-performance wiring harness products and power transmission to support powertrain, energy supply and intelligent driving features, sustaining demand for advanced automotive interconnect solutions. With the acceleration of the construction of public charging stations, electric vehicles are significant means of reducing carbon emissions, and their integration with autonomous driving technology forms the future trend in transportation, profoundly impacting the global automotive market.

System products. The market for acoustic and wireless charging products remains subject to supply chain conditions, global trade policies and changes in product specifications by branded customers, while technological advancements may create potential opportunities.

Business Prospects

Driven by overall industry prospects, we anticipate the connector industry to continue benefiting from AI-driven technological development and drive the recovery of the consumer electronics industry, despite the impact of ongoing macroeconomic uncertainties in 2026. We will continue to adhere to our plan to focus on the key industries of 5GAIoT, acoustics and auto mobility as part of our "3+3" strategy.

- Smartphones. We will continue to focus on next-generation product platforms and seize business opportunities arising from related components upgrades.

- Cloud. As demand continues to grow for AI servers and satellite communications, network infrastructure has become increasingly crucial. The need for high-speed transmission of massive volumes of data has driven demand for new AI-related products, supporting the growth of our business. Focusing on 5GAIoT and the high-growth track, we systematically expanded key technologies and market share, prioritized the development of high-speed connectors and cable modules, continued to deploy core component technologies for optical communications, and deepened cooperation opportunities with leading chip manufacturers, ensuring comprehensive coverage of the optical interconnection field. We expect the cloud end market to remain a key growth driver.

- Consumer interconnects. Continuous upgrades in AI-related components in laptops and computing devices may bring growth momentum. However, tight memory supply may affect the production output of end devices, and concurrently lead to price hikes, thereby dampening consumer demand. We will adopt a prudent approach and prioritize improving profitability.

- Auto mobility. We will continue to leverage the technological strengths in high-voltage electric vehicle systems of our One Mobility business team in Germany, together with our expertise in automotive wiring harnesses, and leverage our strategic partnership with Hon Hai Group, with the aim of capturing opportunities in the new energy vehicle market and meeting the evolving needs of electric vehicles and autonomous driving. We will leverage our expanded product portfolio and technological capabilities to strengthen key customer relationships, optimize product mix and enhance manufacturing integration, while continuing to invest in automotive electronic systems and autonomous driving components to support long-term development.

- System products. Macroeconomic uncertainties and systemic risks have affected consumer confidence, dampening demand for system end products. In response to upstream supply constraints, we have adjusted capacity and reallocated production lines of new products to address the current uncertainty.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Revenue

We derive our revenue mainly from the sale of our connector product solutions and other products. For the six months ended June 30, 2026, our revenue amounted to US$2,496 million, representing an 8.3% increase from US$2,305 million for the same period in 2025. Smartphones. The 2.9% increase in revenue from the smartphones end market was primarily due to the increase in overall sales volume of high-end smartphones of branded companies.

Cloud. The 55.8% increase in revenue from the cloud end market was primarily due to an increase in demand in the server market driven by the growth of the demand for AI, leading to an increase in the shipment volume of copper-based component products.

Consumer interconnects. Revenue from the consumer interconnects end market decreased by 20.6%, which was primarily due to the impact of the shortage of upstream components such as memory chips.

Auto mobility. Revenue from the auto mobility end market decreased by 6.2%, which was primarily due to the overall contraction of the U.S. domestic electric vehicle market and the contraction and adjustments of our major customers' electric vehicle strategies.

System products. Revenue from the system products end market increased by 14.9%, which was primarily due to the impact of the increase in demand for the brand customers' wired earphones – classic white EarPods.

Cost of Sales, Gross Profit and Gross Profit Margin

Our cost of sales increased by 7.55% from US$1,876 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$2,018 million for the same period in 2026. Our cost of sales primarily includes (1) raw materials and consumables used, (2) consumption of inventories of finished goods and work in progress, (3) employee benefit expenses in connection with our production personnel, (4) depreciation of property, plant and equipment, (5) subcontracting expenses, (6) utilities, molding and consumable expenses, and (7) other costs associated with the production and shipments of our interconnect solutions and other products. For the six months ended June 30, 2026, the increase was primarily driven by the rising demand for wired earphones generated from the system products end market.

As a result of the foregoing, our gross profit increased by 11.41% from US$429 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$477 million for the same period in 2026, and our gross profit margin increased from 18.59% for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to 19.13% for the same period in 2026, primarily due to the changes in product mix and favourable exchange rate movements.

Distribution Costs and Selling Expenses

Our distribution costs and selling expenses increased by 15.57% from US$57 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$66 million for the same period in 2026, primarily due to the impact of rising fuel costs.

Administrative Expenses

Our administrative expenses decreased by 9.75% from US$158 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$143 million for the same period in 2026, primarily due to the implementation of cost optimization measures during the period.

Research and Development Expenses

Our research and development expenses primarily consist of (1) employee benefit expenses paid to our research and development personnel, (2) molding and consumables expenses relating to the moldings used in research and development, (3) depreciation of molds and molding equipment and (4) other costs and expenses in connection with our research and development activities. Our research and development expenses increased by 17.70% from US$163 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$192 million for the same period in 2026, mainly due to the increase in research and development activities during the period.

As a result of the foregoing, our operating profit decreased by 29.54% from US$105 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$74 million for the same period in 2026, primarily due to the impact of exchange rates. Our operating profit margin decreased from 4.56% for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to 2.97% for the same period in 2026.

Income Tax Expenses

We incur income tax expenses primarily through our operations in China, Taiwan, the United States, Vietnam, India and Germany. Our income tax expenses decreased by 71.73% from US$50 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$14 million for the same period in 2026, which was primarily due to the absence of withholding tax expenses on profit distributions by our PRC subsidiaries during the period and the optimization of the internal transfer pricing mechanism.

Profit for the period

As a result of the decrease in income tax expenses, profit for the period increased by 26.33% from US$30 million for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to US$38 million for the same period in 2026. Our profit margin increased from 1.31% for the six months ended June 30, 2025 to 1.53% for the same period in 2026.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Sources of Liquidity, Working Capital and Borrowings

We finance our operations primarily through cash generated from our operating activities and bank borrowings. As of June 30, 2026, we had cash and cash equivalents of US$1,517 million, compared to US$1,067 million as of December 31, 2025. In addition, as of June 30, 2026, we had short-term bank deposits of US$85 million, compared to US$150 million as of December 31, 2025.

As of June 30, 2026, we had total bank borrowings of US$2,316 million, including short-term borrowings of US$2,313 million and long-term borrowings of US$3 million, as compared to US$1,794 million as of December 31, 2025, which comprised of short-term borrowings of US$1,186 million and long-term borrowings of US$608 million. We obtained bank borrowings mainly for our working capital purpose and to supplement our investments.

Our current ratio, calculated using current assets divided by current liabilities, was 1.1 times as of June 30, 2026, as compared to 1.4 times as of December 31, 2025. Our quick ratio, calculated using current assets less inventories divided by current liabilities, was 0.8 times as of June 30, 2026, as compared to 1.0 times as of December 31, 2025. The decreases in our current ratio and quick ratio were primarily due to bank borrowings approaching maturity, thereby being reclassified from non-current liabilities to current liabilities.

Cash Flow

For the six months ended June 30, 2026, our net cash generated from operating activities was US$34 million, net cash used in investing activities was US$78 million, and net cash generated from financing activities was US$505 million.

Our average number of inventory turnover days for the six months ended June 30, 2026 was 97 days as compared to 92 days for the six months ended June 30, 2025. The longer inventory turnover days for the six months ended June 30, 2026 were primarily due to the buildup of inventories for the establishment of new production complexes.

Our inventories increased from US$1,042 million as of December 31, 2025 to US$1,098 million as of June 30, 2026, primarily due to the continuous overall expansion of our business scale.

Provision for inventory impairment decreased from US$80 million as of December 31, 2025 to US$75 million as of June 30, 2026, which was due to the clearance of the long-aged inventories.

Trade Receivables

Our trade receivables are receivables from our third party and related party customers for the sale of our interconnect solutions and other products.

We typically grant to our third party and related party customers a credit period ranging from 45 days to 90 days. HUMAN RESOURCES AND REMUNERATION OF EMPLOYEES

As of June 30, 2026, we had approximately 79,000 employees, as compared to 67,563 employees as of December 31, 2025. Total employee benefit expenses including Directors' remuneration were US$589 million, as compared to US$533 million for the same period in 2025. Remuneration is determined with reference to performance, skills, qualifications and experience of the staff concerned and in accordance with the prevailing industry practice.

In addition to salaries and wages, other employee benefit expenses include cash bonus, pension, housing fund, medical insurance and other social insurances, as well as share-based payment expenses and others. We also adopted the Restricted Share Award Schemes to offer valuable incentive to attract and retain quality personnel. We have been evaluating, and may adopt, new share incentive schemes that comply with the requirements of the Listing Rules. The remuneration of the Directors is reviewed by the Remuneration Committee and approved by the Board. The relevant Director's experience, duties and responsibilities, time commitment, the Company's performance, and the prevailing market conditions are taken into consideration in determining the emolument of the Directors.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RISK

We operate in various locations and most of our sales, purchases or other transactions are denominated in U.S. dollars, Euros, New Taiwan dollars and Renminbi. Foreign exchange fluctuations may have a significant positive or negative effect on our results of operations. A majority of our Group's entities are exposed to foreign currency risks related to purchasing, selling, financing and investing in currencies other than the functional currencies in which the entities operate. As we enter into transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currencies in which we or our subsidiaries operate, we face foreign currency risk to the extent that the amounts and relative proportions of various currencies in which our costs and liabilities are denominated deviate from the amounts and relative proportions of the various currencies in which our sales and assets are denominated.

Our condensed consolidated interim financial information is reported in U.S. dollar. Our PRC and other non-U.S. subsidiaries prepare financial statements in Renminbi or their respective local currencies as their functional currencies, which are then translated into U.S. dollar prior to being consolidated into our financial information. As a result, changes in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the functional currencies of these subsidiaries create translation gains and losses in other comprehensive income or loss upon consolidation. In addition, as our PRC and other non-U.S. subsidiaries generally have significant U.S. dollar-denominated sales with and accounts receivable due from the Group entities, depreciation of the U.S. dollar would result in foreign exchange losses while appreciation of the U.S. dollar would result in foreign exchange gains.

To further mitigate the foreign exchange risk, we have also adopted a prudent foreign exchange hedging policy. We have implemented internal procedures to monitor our hedging transactions which include limitations on transaction types and transaction value, formulation and review of hedging strategies in light of different market risks involved and other risk management measures. Under such policy, we enter into forward foreign exchange contracts for hedging purposes only but not for speculative purposes. As of June 30, 2026, the nominal principal amount of our forward foreign exchange contracts was US$1,081 million.

AUDIT COMMITTEE

The Audit Committee comprises three independent non-executive Directors, namely Messrs. TANG Kwai Chang, CURWEN Peter D and CHAN Wing Yuen Hubert. The unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information of the Group for the six months ended June 30, 2026 has been reviewed by the Audit Committee.

PricewaterhouseCoopers, the external auditor of the Company, has also reviewed the unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information for the period in accordance with the International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity" issued by the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board.

SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Subsequent to the reporting period, the Group agreed with the bank to extend the maturity date of bank borrowings totalling USD 799,733,000 to March 2029.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE PRACTICE

The Board is committed to maintaining high corporate governance standards.

During the six months ended June 30, 2026, the Company has followed the principles as set out in the CG Code contained in Appendix C1 to the Listing Rules which are applicable to the Company, and has complied with all applicable code provisions as set out in the CG Code, except the code provision as mentioned below.

Code provision C.2.1 states that the roles of chairman and chief executive officer should be separate and should not be performed by the same individual. Mr. LU Sung-Ching is both the Company's chairman and chief executive officer, and is responsible for the overall management of our Group and directing the strategic development and business plans of our Group. Given the current stage of development of our Group, the Board believes that vesting the two roles in the same person provides our Company with strong and consistent leadership and facilitates the implementation and execution of our Group's business strategies. Also, the Board considers that this situation will not impair the balance of power and authority between the Board and the management of the Company because the balance of power and authority is governed by the operations of the Board which comprises experienced and high caliber individuals with demonstrated integrity. Furthermore, decisions of the Board are made by way of majority votes. The Board shall nevertheless review the structure from time to time in light of the prevailing circumstances. The Board will continue to review the situation and consider splitting the roles of chairman and chief executive officer in due course after taking into account the then overall circumstances of the Group.

MODEL CODE FOR DIRECTORS' SECURITIES TRANSACTIONS

The Company has adopted the Model Code as its code of conduct regarding securities transactions by the Directors. The Company has made specific inquiries to all Directors about their compliance with the Model Code, and they all confirmed that they complied with the standards specified in the Model Code during the six months ended June 30, 2026.

PURCHASE, SALE OR REDEMPTION OF THE COMPANY'S LISTED SECURITIES

Save for the Shares as may be purchased by the trustee from time to time pursuant to the Restricted Share Award Schemes, during the six months ended June 30, 2026, neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has purchased, sold or redeemed any of the Company's listed securities (including sale of treasury Shares (if any)).

INTERIM DIVIDEND

The Board did not declare any interim dividend for the six months ended June 30, 2026.
